the court shall make an order—

- (a) declaring the nature, extent and value, at the time the order is made, of the person's interest;

91. Payment instead of a confiscation order.

Where the court is satisfied that a confiscation order should be made in respect of the property of a person convicted of a crime, but that the property or any part or interest cannot be made subject to such an order and, in particular—

- (c) is located outside the Republic of Uganda;
- (d) has been substantially diminished in value or rendered worthless; or
- (e) has been commingled with other property that cannot be divided without difficulty,

(2) Where the court orders a person to pay an amount under subsection (1), that amount shall be treated as if it were a fine imposed upon him or her in respect of a conviction for a crime.

92. Pecuniary penalty order on conviction.

(1) Subject to this section, where—

- (a) an authorised officer applies to the court for a pecuniary penalty order against a person convicted of the crime under this Act in respect of benefits derived by the person from the commission of the crime, and

 - (i) assess, in accordance with section 93, the value of the benefits so derived, and
 - (ii) order the person to pay to the Republic of Uganda a pecuniary penalty equal to the assessed value of the benefits or such less amount as the court certifies in accordance with section 95(2) to be the amount that might be realised at the time the pecuniary penalty order is made.

(2) Where—

- (a) property that is proceeds of the crime has been confiscated, under this Act or another law of the Republic of Uganda, in relation to the crime, or
- (b) a confiscation order is proposed to be made against property that is proceeds of the crime, the pecuniary penalty should be reduced by an amount equal to the value of the property as of the time of the making of the pecuniary penalty order.

(3) Where the court makes a reduction under subsection (2) and later an appeal against the confiscation is successful or the proposed confiscation does not take place, an authorised officer may apply to the court to increase the penalty amount by the value of the property and the court may, if it considers it appropriate to do so, vary the order accordingly.

(4) Where the court making a pecuniary penalty order is satisfied that a tax paid by the person is attributable in whole or in part to the benefits in respect of which the order is being made, the court may reduce the pecuniary penalty by an amount that, in the opinion of the court, represents the amount of tax paid attributable to such benefits.

(5) Where the court makes a reduction under subsection (4) and later an amount is repaid or refunded to the person in respect to that tax, an authorised officer may apply to the court to increase the penalty amount by the amount repaid or refunded and the court may, if it considers it appropriate to do so, vary the order accordingly.

(6) If the court considers it appropriate, it may reduce the amount payable by a person under a pecuniary penalty order made in relation to a crime by an amount equal to the amount payable by the person by way of fine, restitution, compensation, or damages in relation to the crime.

(7) An amount payable by a person to the Republic of Uganda in accordance with a pecuniary penalty order is a civil debt due by the person to the Republic of Uganda.

(8) A pecuniary penalty order against a person may be enforced as if it were an order made in civil proceedings instituted by the Republic of Uganda against the person to recover a debt due by the person to the Republic of Uganda and the debt arising from the order shall be considered to be a judgment debt.

(9) The court shall not make a pecuniary penalty order under this section—

- (a) until the period allowed by law for the filing of an appeal from a conviction has expired without such appeal having been filed; or
- (b) where an appeal from the conviction has been filed, until the appeal lapses by law or is finally determined, whichever is the later date.

93. Rules of determining benefit and assessing value.

- (b) the value of any other benefit provided to that person or another person at the request or direction of that person, by reason of the commission of the crime.

 - (i) all property appearing to the court to be held by the person at any time:

- (ii) within the period between the day the crime, or the earliest crime, was committed and the day on which the application is made; or

 - (c) any property received or deemed to have been received by the person at any time as a result of, or in connection with, the commission by him or her of that crime or those crimes as property received by him or her free of any interest in it.

(3) Where a pecuniary penalty order has been previously made against a person, in assessing the value of any benefit derived by him or her from the commission of the crime, the court shall leave out of account any benefits that are shown to the court to have been taken into account in determining the amount to be recovered under that previous order.

(4) Where evidence is given, at the hearing of the application, that the value of the person's property at any time during or after the commission of the crime exceeded the value of the person's property before the commission of the crime, then the court shall, subject to subsection (5), treat the value of the benefits as being not less than the amount of the greatest excess.

(5) After the evidence referred to in subsection (4) is given, and the person has satisfied the court that the whole or part of the excess was due to causes unrelated to the commission of the crime, subsection (4) shall not apply to that excess or, as the case may be, that part.

94. Statements relating to benefits from commission of crime.

(1) Where a person has been convicted of a crime and an authorised officer tenders to the court a statement as to any matters relevant to—

- (b) an assessment of the value of the person's benefit from the crime or any other crime of which he or she is convicted in the same proceedings or which is taken into account; and
- (c) the person accepts to any extent an allegation in the statement, the court may, for the purposes of so determining or making that assessment, treat his or her acceptance as conclusive of the matters to which it relates.

(2) Where a statement is tendered under subsection (1), and the court is satisfied that a copy of that statement has been served on the person, the court may require the person to indicate to what extent he or she accepts each allegation in the statement and, so far as the person does not accept any allegation, to indicate any matters he or she proposes to reply on.

(3) Where a person fails in any respect to comply with a requirement under subsection (2), he or she may be treated for the purposes of this section as having accepted every allegation in the statement other than—

- (a) an allegation in respect of which he or she complied with the requirement; and
- (b) an allegation that he or she has benefited from the crime or that any property or advantage was obtained by him or her as a result of or in connection with the commission of the crime.

(4) Where the person tenders to the court a statement as to any matters relevant to determining the amount that might be realised at the time the pecuniary penalty order is made, and the authorised officer accepts to any extent any allegation in the statement, the court may, for the purposes of that determination, treat the acceptance of the authorised officer as conclusive of the matters to which it relates.

(5) An allegation may be accepted or a matter indicated for the purposes of this section either orally before the court or in writing, in accordance with the law.

(6) An acceptance by a person under this section that he or she received any benefits from the commission of a crime is admissible in any proceedings of any crime.

95. Amount recovered under pecuniary penalty order.

(1) Subject to subsection (2), the amount to be recovered under a pecuniary penalty order shall be the amount which the court assesses to be the value of the person's benefit from the crime, or if more than one, all the crimes in respect of which the order may be made.

(2) Where the court is satisfied as to any matter relevant for determining the amount which might be realised at the time the pecuniary penalty order is made whether by acceptance under section 94 or otherwise, the court may issue a certificate giving its order as to the matters concerned, and shall do so if satisfied that the amount that might be realised at the time the pecuniary penalty order is made is less than the amount that the court assesses to be the value of the person's benefit from the crime, or if more than one, all the crimes in respect of which the pecuniary penalty order may be made.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), the court may have regard to—

(7) The court shall not, in respect of any property, exercise the powers conferred by subsection (3), (4), (5) or (6), unless a reasonable opportunity has been given to persons holding any interest in the property to make representations to the court.
